President's Address

PARENTS, TEACHERS AND FRIENDS:

THE privilege of welcoming you here today has been accorded me. You have just viewed the outdoor exercises in which the whole school took part, and now you are about to view the indoor exercises in which the Seniors alone will take part. You will hear our Historian tell of our accomplishments. You will hear our Orator tell of our hopes and ambitions. You will hear our Prophetess and Prophet tell of our probable destinations and occupations.

We have striven to maintain the high ideals and standards of Brookline High School. And that measure of success which we have attained is due to you, our parents, who have enabled us to continue our education; to you, our teachers, whose patience and co-operation have helped us immeasurably; and to you, our friends, for your faith in us.

Today some of us turn to the higher institutions of learning, while others go into the world of business. But no matter where we may be, this day will always remain a source of pride and comfort to us, for here today you, our parents, teachers, and friends have honored us by your presence.

Class History

WE, the Class of 1925, realize, friends, that you consider yourselves honored on being allowed to come to see us. We, in our turn, wish to state that we are a class, which never has and never will be bettered. We've been told by our teachers, who have always realized that we were so highly intellectual and learned that we were mentally far superior to them, that after making a statement we must prove it. Here's the proof:

Many persons in a position similar to the one I have now have likened their classes to great things, phenomena, comets, shooting stars, and so forth. We do not say that the classes who preceded us were not wonders for we are a very gracious class. In fact we go so far as to say that in their day they had as much glory and were considered as valuable as the great ball of fire which we call the sun. There's the proof of our graciousness. But, what we do say is: We also can be likened to a scientific phenomenom. One, greater and more spectacular than any other class could honestly connect itself with. We, friends, are like the eclipse. We blot out the thought of every class that has ever entered this school no matter how great a class it might have been. You must realize this yourselves, for who of you has been thinking of any other class except this one since you have entered this auditorium and seen us? The newspapers were filled about the eclipse, people went by the tens of thousands to see it, US. Did any of you ever see the papers filled about comets, shooting stars, or the sun, other classes?

The school committee realized how great we were even in our freshmen days, for, as soon as it was heralded that we were in the school, the plans for a new building were drawn up and work commenced on this auditorium for it was realized that we would never even be content in the old building and, besides, they wished to show their appreciation of our arrival and the consequental uplift which we gave to the school. That was in our freshman year and when we reached our junior year it was realized that unless something was done pretty soon we would monopolize everything in the school and leave nothing for our lessers, the other classes, so the Point System, to limit the number of activities that we might wish to take the lead in, was established. Even that fury, fear, and jealousy of the other classes could not hide us—"you never can keep a good man down."

To begin our noble course, the beginning of the eclipse, just when the people began to say, "I see it," and "Isn't it going to be wonderful," we elected Bob Hall into the presiding officer's chair, placed Marion Aronson on his right to help us out in case of his absence, awarded "Jody" Meegan with the trusteeship of the money bags, and "Dot" Morgan with the care of the pad and pencil. We immediately placed three members of our class—Nancy Powell, Randolph Umlah, and Richard Levy—among the chosen eight for Prize Speaking. "Dot" Morgan, Ruth Myers, Frances Kiefer, Leslye Platt, and Richard Levy made a place on the "Sagamore." "Louie" Vachon represented us on the football team. "Gige" Daley and "Jody" Meegan swam and dove us to a championship. Ed Riley made the track team and Alec Murray, the hockey team. Jack Floyd was on the champion Greater Boston crew and four of our number—"Dinty" Moore, Bob Hall, Dan Daley, and Alec Murray—swatted the horsehide around Tech Field. "Chickie" Atkins made the girls' tennis team. Cheryl Cheek, "Jo" Albrecht, Mollie McEttrick, Sara Louise Price, and Irma Dangel trained the gym horses how to do their tricks. And then, again to show that we always were good, one half of the swimming team was made up from us, namely, Marta Braggiotti, Cheryl Cheek, Mollie McEttrick, Ruth Horsfall, and Ruth Aronson. Finally, realizing that we had made an indelible mark in the minds of all those connected wth this noble institution of learning and, wishing to give our teachers a brief rest so as to have time to settle down and realize that something was at last happening in this school, we took a vacation.

Returning from our rest with the idea that "day by day in every way we were getting better and better"—as at present—we put Bob Hall in command of our ship, "Dot" Morgan into the capacity of executive officer, made Ed Briggs paymaster, and Marta Braggiotti ship's writer. The people now began to realize that the eclipse was really going to happen, for we had started on our half-way mark. Nancy Powell again upheld us in Prize Speaking. Sara Louise Price helped to establish this stage in its first production, "Dulcy." The girls' debating team had Muriel Barrie and Elizabeth Haven letting loose a flow of arguments. The "Sagamore" on its first year in its present style had help from Erwin Chase, Dick Sallinger, Joe Matz, "Dot" Morgan, Muriel Barrie, and Burton Richardson. "Al" Vinton, Eddie Grennan, and Dan Daley were on the football team that held Newton to a scoreless tie. "Louis" Vachon, Eric Smith, "Al" Vinton, and Dan Daley tore around the track. Vinton was a member of the relay team that went to Philadelphia and came home the second best high school mile relay team in the country. Again we won the George R. Meehan Swimming Trophy through the efforts of "Bake" Hennessey, "Charlie" Oberhauser, "Jody" Meegan, "Gige" Daley, Harvey Morrison, and Ben Leavitt. "Jody" got fourth place in a meet of the best schoolboy divers in the country at the Interscholastics held in New York City. We were represented on the crew by Jack Floyd, John McField, Malcolm Taylor, and Harold Levine, manager. The baseball team was largely composed of members of our class, Dan Daley, John Mahoney, "Dinty" Moore, Andy Sims, Ed McGrath, Joe Sims, "Two-Gun" Fogarty, and "Gige" Daley. Mollie McEttrick captained the girls' swimming team, made up of Betty Rock, Ruth Horsfall, Edith Colby, and Ruth Aronson, which won all its meets. Bob Hall, Ben Currier, Alec Murray, and Francis Driscoll chased the puck around the ice. The girls' gym team, captained by Mollie McEttrick, aided by "Jo" Albrecht, Betty Rock, Ruth Horsfall, and Irma Dangel, won its only meet. Feeling that we were not unnoticed by any person in the school we finally left in June so that we could have time for our next year's killing.

We came back our junior year filled with the thought that although we weren't the oldest class in the school that we would make ourselves felt the most. Our eclipsing was coming to the three-quarter stage. We put ourselves in the charge of "Al" Vinton, headmaster; Sara Louise Price, dean; Ransom Hodges, head of the exchequer; and "Billie" Chisholm, scribe. We gave six Junior Socials that have never been surpassed and in them started the present style of social. Five of our members,—Nancy Powell, Elizabeth Haven, Maurice Goudey, Alfred Vinton, and Harold Levine—made the most honored position in the school, membership in Alpha Pi. "Captain Applejack" was put across with a bang by Barbara Pike, "Al" Vinton, Willis Bradley, and Mary Roblin. Muriel Barrie, Erwin Chase, Harold Levine, and Burton Richardson put the "Sagamore" on its feet for the first time, leaving $30 in the treasury at the end of the year. Margaret Follin and Bill Hughes orated for us at Prize Speaking. We had five—Ruth Harrington, Dorothy Shugg, Elizabeth Haven, Muriel Barrie, and Margaret Barrie—out of eight on the girls' debating team which defeated Melrose. Joe Matz and Burton Richardson argued on the team that split with Middlesex. Nancy Powell, Irene Jewett, Margaret Follin, Bill Nickerson, John Plakias, Anna Driscoll, and Burton Jolles put on the first Spanish musical comedy ever produced in this school. Dan Daley, Jack Floyd, Fogarty, "Lefty" Falkson, "Bake" Hennessey, Clarence Hossley, Burton Jolles, "Dingbat" Maguire, John Mahoney, John McGillan, "Dinty" Moore, "Gus" Pons, Ed Shugrue, "Louis" Vachon, and "Al" Vinton rushed the pigskin around the gridiron. With "Louis" Vachon as captain, and Ed McGrath and "Al" Vinton as sure point winners, the track team made a good showing. "Gige" Daley, "Bake" Hennessey, Charlie Oberhauser, Ben Leavitt, Burton Jolles, Harvey Morrison, Rod Darling, and "Moon" Mullen again swam the school to the swimming trophy. John McField, Jack Floyd, Malcolm Taylor, Elwood Currier, and "Louie" Vachon pulled the shell through the water. Francis Driscoll, "Lefty" Falkson, Alec Murray, Ben Currier, and Francis Fogarty shot the puck into the net to finish in second place in the Suburban League. The baseball team, captained by "Dinty" Moore, and helped by Ed McGrath, and John Mahoney, split with Newton. Mary Jerome, Caroline Gallagher, Hisa Matsuki, "Jo" Albrecht, and Betty Rock knocked the field hockey ball into the goal of every opposing team. Again, Mollie McEttrick captained an undefeated swimming team consisting of Edith Colby, Betty Rock, Mary Jerome, Ruth Aronson, Ruth Larkin, and Harriet Sussman. One-half of the winning gym team—Betty Rock, Mary Jerome, Doris Miller, "Jo" Albrecht, Sara Louise Price, Irene Jewett, Harriet Sussman, and Mollie McEttrick, captain—was made up from us. We were the class basket-ball champs. The team, captained by "Jo" Albrecht, consisted of Mollie McEttrick, Mary Jerome, Betty Rock, Harriet Sussman, Barbara Rollins, and Bernice Levine. When June finally came the school committee as well as ourselves realized that we'd need a vacation before we'd finish blotting out the other classes, so we took a rest.

At last we came to our final stage towards total eclipse. We were high and mighty seniors, to be looked down on by no one. To guide us on our final blaze of glory we elected "Al" Vinton, president; Sara Louise Price, vice-president; Ransom Hodges, treasurer; and "Jo" Albrecht, secretary. Barbara Pike, Dorothy Shugg, Irma Dangel, Charles Gaynor, Fulford Dexter, Jack Floyd, Barbara Rollins, and Burton Richardson made Alpha Pi in the fall and eleven more of us—Willis Bradley, William Helmbold, Sylvia Clarke, Flora Warnock, John Plakias, Dorothy Cottrell, Ruth Taplin, Ruth Horsfall, Edith Colby, Irene Jewett, and "Jo" Albrecht—made it in February, bringing the membership to the largest point ever reached. The "Sagamore" kept up its record because of Charlie Gaynor, Erwin Chase, Sara Louise Price, Harold Levine, John Plakias, Muriel

The football team, captained by "Louie" Vachon, and managed by Fulford Barrie, Irma Dangel, Ruth Rose, Ruth Wallace, "Billie" Chisolm, and Burton Richardson. We dared to put on Shakespeare in the form of the "Taming of the Shrew" because we had Barbara Pike, William Helmbold, Willis Bradley, Bob Darling, Charlie Gaynor, Jack Floyd, John McField, Dorothy Cottrell, Charlie Frank, and Norman Shikes. Norman Shikes and Ruth Taplin fittingly won Prize Speaking for us and Dorothy Shugg, Willis Bradley, William Helmbold, and Dorothy Cottrell ciceroed also them to give them some stiff competition. The rootball team, captained by "Louie" Vachon, and managed by Fulford Dexter, aided by Burton Jolles, "Dinty" Moore, "Bake" Hennessey, "Dingbat" Maguire, Johnnie McGillan, "Gus" Pons, Clarence Hossley, Ed Grennan, John Mahoney, John McField, Arthur Falkson, and Bill Goodale, held Newton to a scoreless tie. The track team, managed by Erwin Chase, and made up of Ed McGrath, "Al" Vinton, Alec Horsfall, "Louie" Vachon, Stanley Sawmelle, Charlie Chase, Harold Potter, Bob Burley, Norman Bickell, was the third best team in the state and was defeated in only one dual meet, having defeated Newton overwhelmingly, twice. "Gige" Daley captained and swam the swimming team to another championship through the aid of Harvey Morrison, manager and swimmer, "Bake" Hennessey, John McGillan, "Si" Lewis, "Gus" Pons, and Bob Darling. "Two-gun" Fogarty led the hockey team, "Lefty" Falkson, Ben Currier, John Donahue, Clarence Hossley, and Charlie Gaynor, manager, through a long season. With Elwood Currier, captain, and Charlie Frank, manager, the crew—Jack Floyd, John McField, William Willis, "Rusty" Weiler, and Malcolm Taylor—is still burning up the river. Ed McGrath captained the baseball team, managed by Ed Shugrue, and consisting of "Dinty" Moore, "Lefty" Falkson, Clarence Hossley, and "Gus" Pons. Again, Mollie McEttrick captained an undefeated swimming team of Mary Jerome, Ruth Horsfall, and Ruth Larkin. The field hockey team was greatly aided by Mary Jerome, "Jo" Albrecht, Betty Rock, Sally Redman, and Hisa Matsuki. And, again, with Sally Redman as captain, and Audrey Booth, Agnes Cunniff, Caroline Gallagher, Lila Stearns, "Jo" Albrecht, Mollie McEttrick, and Frances Bennett as players, we were class basket-ball champs.

That, friends, brings us up to the present time. The eclipse is total and with this totality must come the corona and here you see us in a great blaze of light which no other class has ever equalled.

PLACE: Nancy's living-room.

SETTING: Table-lamp, armchair, radio-set, loud speaker, loop, telephone.

Nancy (Reading radio page of newspaper): "Here's a picture of the chorus in Bill Morse's Fiji Island Review which is broadcasting tonight from WHN. I wonder who they are? Their costumes look interesting. Here's Helen Maher, Marie Meade, Alta Rose, Mary Donovan and Lilla Stearns. An interpretive dance with costumes by Margaret Flexner and Grace Adelman is to be given by Lydia Blythe, Madge Frey, Helen Hamilton and Estella Norris. Margaret Stranahan is going to sing a song, written by Constance Rhodes and Earl Chamberlain, accompanied by Margaret Bruce. I might have seen that show instead of the vaudeville acts by Dan O'Connor and Jack Donohue, although they were very good."

Nancy tunes radio. Radio (end of dance number is heard): "This concludes the program by Russ Goudey's Novelty Orchestra broadcasting from the Plakias Restaurant. The orchestra is composed of Russ Goudey, sweet potato; Stanley Sawmelle, tenor saw; George Bradley, bassoon; Thomas Frankenberg, harmonica; John Finnerty, siren; Lawrence Moses, lyre; Frank Taglino, Venus saxophone; William Schram, fife; Stanley Lee, leghorn; Roger Thurber, eardrum; silent choruses by William Helmbold, imitating a dog-biscuit. Just a minute, please."

Nancy: "That is the kind of a chorus I'd like to hear sweet William sing. (Glancing at the newspaper.) "Why here's the poultry show at Mechanic's Building being broadcasted from WEEI. I'd like to hear that. (Nancy tunes in to station WEEI.)

Radio: "This is station WEEI broadcasting the results of the afternoon contest. Best chickens entered by Charles Oberhauser and Edward Grennan. The chicken judges were Moon Mullen and Frank Sheldon. The next number will be the midnight meeting of the Sears Hallet Big Brother Club. Winners of the Freedman All-steel Toothbrush Contest will be announced by Ransom Hodges, President of the Jordan Motor Car Company, who acts as sole judge, and through whose generosity the prizes are given. First prize, a spark-plug, cleaned by James Winterbottom, was won by Erik Von Ladau; second prize, a book, 'Great Men Who Have Met Me,' by Alfred Vinton, Mayor of Boston, won by Erwin Chase, the Mayor's Secretary; the third prize, a floral offering from Katherine Finan's Floral Shop, if killed by a Jordan Car, was won by Mary Ford. By special request the usual opening song by the Gold Dust Twins, Rosie and Goldie Doodlesack, will be omitted. In its place will be two songs. The first one to be sung by John Mahoney, bass, entitled, 'I'll See You In My Dreams.' The second one by Sally Redman, 'Not If I See You First.' Station WEEI. These songs will follow in a few minutes."

Nancy (picking up a magazine): "I guess I'll glance through this new Ladies' Boon Companion while I'm waiting. This cover picture of Miss America, posed by Miss Doris Miller, for Barbara Clarke, is what attracted me to buy the magazine. (Turns pages.) Let me see what the table of contents promises. Editorial by Ruth Harrington, 'Why I flunked my College Board Exams,' by Sylvia Clark, 'Why I took a P. G. course at B. H. S.,' by Grace Allen. Short stories by Mary Roblin, and entertaining sketches by Ruth Rose. Those ought to be good. Here's a special article by Sara Louise Price on 'The Shortcomings of Mere Man.'"

Nancy (tuning radio): "Now for those songs—SQUAWK—can't get them." (Tunes to WGI.) "Station WGI broadcasting police reports. A person claiming to be Patrick Henry has been placed in a separate room at the John F. Murray Memorial Hospital on account of his incessant mumbling of 'BOOTS—BOOTS—BOOTS—BOOTS.' He has dark red hair, answered to the name of Norman Shikes, and was found by Officer Archie Barron, trying to climb a tree backwards. He was wearing a suit bearing the label CLIFFORD'S CLASSY-CUT CLOTHES. His shoes were from K. Zakouras' Shoe Shop—pause—Mildred Rounswell, Marian Keith, and Pauline Walker are reported missing in a Ford. They started across the continent and were last seen in Kalamazoo—pause—George Daley, Police Commissioner, calls attention to the new law, allowing only a speed from 45 to 55 miles per hour on Tremont Street. An example is now being made of Richard Sallinger, the first offender, who was caught going faster than permissible in a Ford. He was caught after a chase by Mounted Officer Malcolm Taylor. He claims that he was forced to this pace by Charles Dunlap, William Willis, and Minor Thompson, Marathon runners, whom he was pacing. Please stand by for a play written by Willis Bradley, presented by Irene Risman. The parts are to be taken by Barbara Pike, heroine; Francis Mullowney, hero; the timid sister, Anna Driscoll; the browbeaten governess, Dorothy Cottrell. All are members of the Fulford Dexter Stock Company. Station WGI. This will be given in three minutes."

Nancy: "I ought to be getting along to bed, because I want to be up at 6:45 for the setting-up drill. Gretchen Kaffenburgh gave us some stiff drill yesterday, and Celia Gilbert was not much better this morning. I'm going to write Ruth Funk who is in charge and ask her if the pianist, Edith Colby, will play more slowly. I couldn't get the third exercise at all even after seeing Ceres Hadcock and Katherine Clifford demonstrate it at the Ladies' Beautiful Exposition yesterday. Let me see what I can get now."

Nancy tunes in on Radio: "This is Station WZJ broadcasting the Olympic results, through the courtesy of Burton Richardson, editor of the New York Times. Richard Weiler, the well-known sporting editor announcing: The Century record was lowered by Edward McGrath to nine and one-fifth seconds. He attributes his success to the coaching of Augustine Pons. A record was tied by Norman Bicknell in the high jump. Robert Burley on an off day only managed to capture second place with a jump of ten feet eleven inches. The shot put was won by Mary Jerome, with Louis Vachon a poor second. Vachon, however, won the discus event, winning by inches over Marjorie Aylward. The outstanding play of the final hockey game between the Canadians and the Americans was the work of Ben Currier and Phil Barnes, American forwards who, with a tie score, raced down the ice together after a pass from Bill Goodale and broke the Canadian goalie's knee with the winning goal. Other members of the world's champs were Clarence Hossley and Arthur Falkson. The Scotch women's basket-ball team, composed of Josephine Albrecht, captain, Freda Clarke, Hisa Matsuki, Carolyn Gallagher, and Eleanor Laing defeated the far inferior Bulgarian men's team, composed of William Gibson, Thomas Glennon, Patrick Hogan, Burton Jolles, and Edmund Homer."

Nancy: "I wonder how the mixed doubles with Alfred Levick and Virginia Haynes playing Margaret Driscoll and Charles Frank came out."

Radio: "The American swimming team, composed of Betty Rock, Harriet Sussman, Edith Colby, coached by Ruth Aronson, could not compete because of the exhaustion caused by laughing at the coach's antics and also those of Ruth Larkin, who was chasing Peanuts across the water. Three new records were set by Mollie McEttrick, captain of the American swimming team. This concludes the Olympic reports. I wish to announce before the next part of the program that Irma Dangel, author of 'Always Right,' was just awarded the Pulitzer prize on Washington Street by a man claiming to be Napoleon. The next number will be theater programs for next week. At the Colonial, George Cleaves presents Jack Mark's 'Scandals' with Marion Conaty singing. 'What a Red-headed Mamma Can Do,' Mary Cornell singing; 'Me and the Boy Friend,' and Helen Smith singing 'Alabamy Bound.' At the Wilbur, Charles Gaynor, magician extraordinary, will catch eggs with his teeth. These will be thrown by Prescott Emmons, who accepts no pay for this task. B. F. Keith's Theatre presents Bertram Coen in an Irish novelty act with Ruth Wallace; Dorothy Shapiro, Isabel Wood, Josephine Corbett, Agnes Cunniff in 'Four Little Girls In the Wood.' Harvey Morrison, John Ford and Harold Turner take the part of butterflies. George Humphries is a swallow. Charles Brenn and Eva Oscar give a Fashion Show with Marian Aronson, Marion Barrie, Gertrude Bessom, and Mabel Cook as charming models. Salim Lewis presents the latest styles in men's bathing suits."

Nancy: "I saw Salim Lewis in the street the other day looking longingly into Child's Restaurant watching Constance Turner race Madeline Murphy turning griddle cakes. Dwight Allen lent him a nickel to go in and buy some." (Starts tuning.)

Radio: "Station KOP broadcasting latest news flashes. Springfield, Illinois.—A terrific tornado again struck this town. Eddie Shugrue's Barber Shop was lifted fifteen yards. He is now being sued by Clarence Casler for damages inflicted with a razor. David Rubenstein, eye witness, testified that the action on the part of Alfred Ullian, the best-paid barber, was suspicious. He noticed Ullian sharpening the razor before shaving the previous customer, Louis Rush. Sidney Upton was found wrapped around a telegraph pole singing, 'If Oranges Grew In Ireland They'd Pluck Them When They're Green.' A flock of newspaper reporters were grouped around Robert Darling who insisted that the tornado was started by a sneeze which blew his teeth out. This sneeze came from Nanette Rosenberg. Chicago, Illinois.—Estelle Charak of this city won the art award for the portrait, 'The Six Barefooted Maidens.' The parts were posed by Louise Currie, Marjorie Love, Margaret Maguire, Selma Laskey, Bernice Levine, and Alice Lyons, on account of the perfection of their feet. Just a moment, please."

Nancy (picks up paper): "Here's a picture of the first woman president, Elizabeth Chisholm, with her Cabinet. She has re-introduced the Spoils System, having all feminine members in it. Secretary of War, Hope Mudgett; Sec. of State, Audrey Booth; Sec. of Navy, Effie Waterman; Sec. of Interior, Dorothy Shugg; Attorney General, Elizabeth Haven; Sec. of Agriculture, Mildred Bates; Postmaster General, Ruth Jacobs; Sec. of Treasury, Irene Jewett; Sec. of Independent Establishments, Natalie Gallagher; Sec. of Labor, Katherine Korman; Sec. of Commerce, Flora Warnock. Frances Bennett is the Speaker of the House."

Radio: "A visit to the circus for kiddies. Before approaching the circus grounds we come to the side show. Sam Brooks is announcing that Irmgaard Albrecht, wonder woman, will tell you what is happening in any part of the world for ten cents. Further on is the wolf-man who is half wolf, half man, Myer Wolf. An added attraction to this is Sylvia Finkelstein, sword-swallower. We are nearing the circus. We buy one ticket and go in."

Nancy: "Sounds like Grant Learned and Fred Love."

Radio: "Inside is Harold Bromfield's Three-ring Circus. In the first ring are the Mac Sisters, Margaret McCarthy and Edith MacKinnon, who are singing 'Please Do It Again.' John McGillon is singing 'I'm My Mamma's Little Rogue.' In the third ring is Alfred Hennessey, tamer of social lions, which include Mary Hutchinson, Ann Taylor and Ethel Norris."

Nancy: "This circus is boring me. I guess I'll try for distance."

Radio: "Station KLZ at Denver, Colorado, broadcasting late news flashes. —Boston, Mass.—Charles Chase, heavyweight champion, has left for Cuba and has not been heard from for three weeks. Notify his trainer, Joe Matz. Readville, Mass.—The results of auto races are as follows: Hundred mile race won by Florence Cinti, driving a Fiat; second, Mildred Freyberg, driving a Blitzen-Benz. The one-mile straight-away won by Emily Canfield, driving a Chrysler; second, Ann Carson, driving a Knoxon-Alsix. James Donnelley hit a fence in this race. This fence was owned by Muriel Barrie who argued her own case, after suing Donnelley. The coast to coast race terminating here was won by Richard Piez, driving a Ford. His mechanic, who graduated from the Lutz School of Engineering, was Modesto Sisson. The average speed in the shorter distance races was ninety-five miles per hour. Just a minute, please."

Nancy: "That reminds me of the Oxford-Wellesley crew race this afternoon. The Wellesley crew: bow, Margaret Ball; No. 2, Margaret Beaton; No. 3, Zelda Bronstein; No. 4, Celia Connelley; No. 5, Marian Ellis; No. 6, Margaret Flemming; No. 7, Helena Glazer; stroke, Margaret Hewitt; cox, Florence Spears. The Oxford crew: bow, Harold Levine; No. 2, Tom Burke; No. 3, Fred Chace; No. 4, Israel Cohen; No. 5, Austin Quinby; No. 6, John MacField; No. 7, Jack Floyd; stroke, Elwood Currier; cox, Sam Novogroski. The Wellesley crew were leading by two lengths when the stroke broke an oar. She started to use the rudder in its place and the boat ran down the police boat, 'Dorothy Lee,' nearly drowning Thelma Gorfinkle and Marion Finerty, who were in it."

Radio: "Continuing the news flashes, by station KLZ. The three best sellers for this month are the following: 'Physics As It Ought To Be,' by Cecile Gardner; 'A Detailed Explanation of the Einstein Theory About Relatives,' by Marion Gould, and 'Better Late Than Never,' by Doris Ballard. Monte Carlo.—Olga Ford and Agnes Wilson, well known American actresses, had peculiar turns of luck at the Casino, here. Olga Ford broke the bank at her table and then Agnes Wilson lost $25,000 at a table where Ruth Duckworth was croupier. Washington, D. C.—A third party movement has been started in the Senate by Leslie Smith and Marjorie Wiggin, Senators from Wisconsin, who brought forth a resolution condemning the re-introduction of the Spoils System by President Chisholm.. According to Gwendolyn McArtney, editor of the Philadelphia Blah, the Senators, together with Helen Martin and Mable Thompson from Texas, and Frances Keifer and Marion Owens from Minnesota who have joined with the Wisconsin Senators, form the nucleus of a third party. Fear is also expressed by Dorothy Woods of the 'South Aspirin Evening Dose' that the President will be hampered seriously by this faction. New Toric, New York.—An appreciative audience gathered last night to hear Ruth Taplin speak upon 'The Evils of Necco Wafers Upon the Younger Generation.' Officer Anna McIntyre seized Marguerite Hayes and Mary Keary who were fighting for a yellow wafer from an assorted package of wafers. San Francisco.—A spiritualistic meeting in which Katherine Kirrane attempted to demonstrate to a group of experts, Mary Larkin, Edith Leavitt, Helen Levenson and Gertrude Ziman, her psychic powers, were broken up when Florence Walsh, a detective, disguised as a tablecloth, detected her lifting the table with her knees. Pittsburgh.—Margaret Thompson in a contest with Mary McGanty and Theodosia Mahoney set a world's record for speed in typewriting here. This concludes the news flashes from KLM. The next will be a talk by Margaret Woodward, head nurse of the City Hospital. This will follow in a minute."

Nancy: "Well I guess I'll look at this woman's section of the paper and then get to bed. (Takes newspaper.) Barbara Rollins' advice to the lovelorn—no, I don't need that yet. Miriam Orlick's latest patterns from Paris illustrated by the well-known models, Mary O'Donnell, Elizabeth Pollock, Marion Reuell, Isabel Conway, and Marion Thompson. They were introduced by Clarice Levine and Sylvia Lewitsky from an exclusive women's shop. They are certainly clever. Etiquette tips are by Louise Linehan and Nell Moses. Movie Notes by Mary McCarthy.—Catherine Maloney, a coming star, refused the other day to jump over a one-hundred-foot cliff. She was promptly discharged by Director Edith Townshend, who, on an interview with our correspondent, Elizabeth McCaffery, said that the new class of actresses are too particular and too fussy. Elizabeth McGaffin refused to play opposite Rudolph Valentino. Under protest Catherine Maloney was finally chosen to play the desert scene in 'Frozen Flapajacks.' In this $1,000,000 production the huge advertising campaign will be undertaken by Ruth Horsfall, the well-known artist in her line."

Nancy (drops paper, yawns, and then says): "Now for the bedtime story. (Turns to radio.) " . . . and then Foxy Grampa chased the turtle up a tree where he still is. Good night, children. WJY signing off. A. B. H. announcing."

(Radio set lets out awful squeal.)

Nancy: "That reminds me, I must feed the cat." (Walks off stage.)

The radio is announced throughout by Alexander Horsfall.

Ivy Oration

AS we, the class of 1925, plant this ivy, we cannot fail to be impressed with the fact that, as this fragile vine starts its life here, we ourselves are beginning an existence in the outside world. As it grows stronger and flourishes, let us build anew. For every foot that it climbs upward, may we make our characters and aims one degree better. However, in its growth it will serve not only as a measure of our achievements, but also as a key to open the gates of memory recalling the happy hours of work and play spent within the walls of this admirable institution. Our only hope is that so slight a token may remain through the years as a symbol of the love we bear Brookline High School.

JOHN FLOYD

Oration

CLASSMATES:

As I stand here before you this afternoon and look over the great assembly gathered here, the thought comes to me, that we are but one small company of that great band of adventurers who are setting forth this month into the unknown future. In hundreds, even in thousands of other auditoriums at this same season, there are other similar companies ready to go forth to fight the great battle of life. In great cities and in remote villages, along the seacoast and over vast plains, in the North, South, East, and West, they are gathering for the same purpose as ours.

In thinking of this, a picture has risen before my eyes—that of the migrations of the tribes of old in the Springtime. At a certain season of the year a restlessness came over them that set them wandering, a longing for a change, for new scenes.

Everywhere, over the surface of the inhabited globe, restless humanity was in motion. Whole clans and tribes together, men with wives and families and all their possessions, seeking new lands and fresh opportunities. By day the smoke of their passing rose over the dusty plains, and at night their fires beside great rivers and on the borders of vast forests, starred the darkness of the wilderness.

In this age and generation the tribes of the earth no longer go forth on long migrations to distant countries. The territories of the earth are all divided and apportioned long since. But none the less though the races of men are now fixed, bound to labor in great cities, or upon remote farms, there are yet at certain seasons, adventurous migrations. As the modern world is organized, its youth migrates periodically, from one set of scenes to another.

The migrations that we have to make are not from country to country, but from one phase of life and effort to another, calling for greater and greater exercise of our powers.

We are about to set out upon a new stage of our migration before we go forth into the world. Some of us are going to skip that last step, and go forward at once to face the new problems of the great outside world.

You, who are going to face the world in the near future, I urge to uphold the standard of Brookline and of our High School, to meet your responsibilities as graduates of Brookline High School should meet them. To those of you who are going to college I recommend that you make a clean start, profiting from what our teachers of the past four years have so faithfully striven to impart to us.

NORMAN SHIKES

Classmates, let us resolve that wherever we go on our journey through life, we will always live up to the ideals that have been set before us for the last four years.

Class Poem

THE eager mind of youth too often deems
Great fame or riches worthy of desire;
The humbler things to which it may aspire
Are hidden in a winding maze of dreams.
The road of life is steep and hard to climb,
Beset with disillusionment and tears. . . .
The dream maze is unravelled with the years,
And true success revealed at last by time.
For fame and wealth are given to the few;
The many must content themselves with less,
And change their first conception of success
To meet the laws which life reveals as true:
Each soul must play its own allotted part,
For true success is found within the heart.

MISS BARBARA BOUVÉ

It is a cause of general regret that Miss Bouvé is not to return to the school next year. A graduate of the school in the class of 1918, she came to the position of secretary in 1919 with full knowledge of the traditions of the school, and the duties of her office. These duties she has performed most acceptably to both teachers and pupils. She quickly mastered the details of her work and the organization of the school and today has at her command more general information than any one else connected with the school. This is only one of the reasons why she will be so greatly missed. She has been a friend to every pupil, while holding them rigidly to the observance of those duties connected with her office. To visitors she has always given that favorable impression that comes from a courteous and gracious reception. For all she has done for the school, and with the consciousness that it will still have her loyal good-will we send her to her "new position" with our heartiest good wishes.

Class of 1926

THERE is a song that begins "Just like a melody that lingers on, you seem to haunt me night and day." So the memory of the Junior Class will linger long in the remembrances of the School.

In the past year the Juniors have featured considerably. Our girls have strongly represented us in all of the girls' sports; namely, Field Hockey, Swimming, and Basketball.

Our boys have helped greatly in participating in Football, Track, Swimming, Hockey, and Baseball. In all these sports we have had many major representatives.

Also in Dramatics there were many Juniors, both boys and girls, who kept up our standing.

To the Seniors we heartily extend our best wishes for a very successful future college and future life and we will try to leave as good a standing in the High School as they are leaving.

ALTHOUGH the Class of 1927 does not pretend to lay claim to any remarkably brilliant record of accomplishment, we feel that we have concluded a creditable and successful year.

The Class election occurred in late October. The officers chosen were Fessenden Wilder, president; Clarine Stevens, vice president; Betty Cushing, secretary; and Ward French, treasurer. Betty Cushing and Roger Whitman were elected as representatives to the Court of Justice and Teacher-Student Council, respectively.

In accordance with the custom of previous years, the Sophomore Class gave a reception to welcome the incoming Freshmen. This social was above the ordinary and a good time was had by all. We are greatly indebted to Miss Paine and Miss Perkins for their kind assistance on this occasion. We have had an active representation in the various sports. The boys have accomplished much in Football, Baseball, Track, Swimming, and Hockey. Meanwhile the girls, not to be outdone, have done equally well with their Gym work, Basketball, Swimming and Field Hockey.

The members of our class have taken part in Dramatics, the Senior Social, Language Clubs, Prize-speaking, and Debating.

As we look backward to the two years gone by with a spirit of loyalty and affection, so we look forward to the two years before us with a desire to accomplish many more things for the honor of the Brookline High School.

FESSENDEN WILDER, President.

Class of 1928

FRESHMAN Elections were held in the New Auditorium on October 30. From a large number of candidates, the Class elected as President, John Jewett; as Vice President, Charles Miller; as Secretary, Lucienne Wilkinson; and as Treasurer, Robert Marshall. The Marshals were, Louise Brown, Edwin Brown, Daniel Rollins, Robert Marshall, and John Jewett.

At the Annual Sophomore-Freshman Social we became better acquainted with the Sophomores and with each other. A good time was enjoyed by all, and the Freshman Class is very grateful to the Sophomores.

In sports the Class has been quite successful. Our football team was able to defeat the Sophomores, 6-0. The girls made an unusual showing in all sports, coming second to the Seniors in the Inter-Class Gym Meet. The Freshman Girls were also well represented on the Field Hockey Team. The Baseball Team, under the able direction of Mr. Taylor, won its first three games and promises to keep up this record.

The Freshman Class was represented on the Teacher-Student Council by Louise Brown and John Jewett, and on the Court of Justice by Daniel Rollins and John Jewett.

In Prize Speaking, no Freshman succeeded in making the finals, but the Class was well represented in the tryouts and semi-finals.

We take pride in mentioning Betty Lewton as winner of second prize in a Bookman Magazine Contest, and also Florence Taylor whose work in the Art Department has been exceptional.

The Class was grieved to hear of the death of one of its members, Ruth Arinovitz; she will always be remembered as a girl of strong character.

We hope that in the remaining years at B. H. S. we shall be an asset to the school.

JOHN JEWETT, President.

SEVERAL years ago, when the Honorary Society was first formed, an attempt was made to have the qualifications based on excellence in scholarship alone. This, of course, would have created a society on the order of the Phi Beta Kappa. In all probability it would have been a rather smaller society than it is now. The reason for including participation in one or more of the school activities was to have the Alpha Pi key worn by alround students since taking part in various activities necessarily means giving as well as taking. On the other hand, without the condition of excellence in studies, half the purpose of the society would have been lost. The result of this reasoning was the six-point plan which is used now. It is interesting to notice, however, that very few students enter with just the required six points.

At the beginning of this year the membership numbered five, the same number with which it began last year. At the fall Initiations nine Seniors were initiated, and in March twelve Seniors and seven Juniors entered. The total membership was then thirty-three, the largest the Society has ever had. It happened this year that an unusually large number of students excelled in scholarship. It had been thought at first that the Point System would make it more difficult to gain the required number of outside activities, but the increase in membership since the beginning of the year proved that this would not happen.

The Honorary Society Initiations, which occur twice a year help to bring the importance and the dignity of the Society before the school. They are conducted in such a way that the underclassmen, particularly the Freshmen, may realize that some day they too will constitute the members of the Honorary Society, so they may make up their minds in time that they will wear the Alpha Pi key. Only too often students have waited until their Junior year before starting to take part in outside activities, to find that they would not be able to achieve enough points. The last point is much easier to get in one's Sophomore year than in the week after mid-years of the Senior year. Alpha Pi may almost be called a barometer of the school's general Spirit because the size of its membership determines the number of students who are giving their best towards the success of the school. It is held as a sacred thing by its members and we hope that in years to come it will always be considered as such.

Teacher Student Council

THE Teacher-Student Council is the most important organization in the school. It is the law-making and the law-enforcing body of the school. The members of the Council are eighteen in number, consisting of nine teachers and nine students. Seven of the teachers are elected each year by the faculty, the other two being the dean of girls and the athletic coach, who automatically become members. The faculty members this year are: Miss Pease, who is chairman, Miss Willgoose, Miss Sawyer, Miss Gambrill, Miss Lewis, Miss Marshall, Mr. Jewett, Mr. Whittemore and Mr. Hines.

A representative of each class is elected by the marshals from the body of marshals each year. The four presidents of the classes automatically become members and the ninth member is the captain of the marshals. The student members this year are: Ransom Hodges, who is vice chairman, Alfred Vinton, Richard Gentle, Fessenden Wilder, John Jewett, Maurice Goudy, Barbara Hall, who is secretary and treasurer, Roger Whitman and Louise Brown. Hisa Matsuki has very kindly given her services as secretary to the chairman and has made excellent detailed reports of the metings which will be invaluable in later years.

The Court of Justice

THE judicial side of the student government in Brookline High School is taken care of by the Court of Justice. This institution is, under the Headmaster, the highest authority of the school in passing judgment on the infringement of the rules and regulations of the school. The Court tries to incorporate into its findings the honor system rather than a mere punishment for some offense committed. It hopes that by this method it may instill in the student high standards of honor and self-respect. The school is bound to support the Court and abide by its rulings because its members are elected by the pupils.

The Court for 1924-25 is composed of a Chief Justice, Ransom Hodges, a Senior elected by popular vote from the school at large; the four class presidents: Alfred Vinton, Richard Gentle, Fessenden Wilder, and John Jewett; one marshal from each class: Edward McGrath, Sam Brown, Betty Cushing and Daniel Rollins; and a faculty advisor, Miss Liden, elected by the faculty, who has no vote but aids the Court greatly by her wise advice.

The Court takes cases which are submitted to it by the Headmaster, the Teacher-Student Council, the Chairman of the Teacher-Student Council, and the Captain of Marshals.

The judging of students by other students makes for responsibility which will help them in after-life and encourage a respect for authority and a spirit of co-operation.

RANSOM F. HODGES, Chief Justice—1925.

The Marshals

FROM the first bell of the school year in September the Marshals have been in charge of the buildings and grounds, maintaining order in the corridors, lunch-rooms, and all other places frequented by students during the school hours. The elections having been held last spring the usual electoral confusion was dispensed with, thus enabling the Marshals to enter into the regular routine with no unnecessary delay. The underclassmen performed their duties admirably considering their slight experience, and the steady dignity of the Senior delegation was a wall for them to fall back on in their time of indecision. What little trouble has risen between miscreants and Marshals has been quietly and efficiently settled by the Court of Justice, which has enjoyed the successful co-operation of this body during the entire year.

DRAMATIC CASTE

Dramatics

THE play chosen by the Dramatic Committee for presentation this year was Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew." There were many reasons for this choice. The cast was large and gave thirty people to appear before the footlights. In the past history of dramatics mostly modern plays have been presented and not since 1919, when "She Stoops to Conquer," was given has there been a costume play. Shakespeare has to be given well to be worth while, and we have not disappointed anyone in the acting ability of the cast.

We have gained much this year in the realm of unusual staging and lighting effects. The main background was a set of velvet-like curtains of a neutral gray hue, which could be changed in color by the use of flood lights. These curtains were stitched by the High School Sewing Department. The scenery used in the street scene was most effective and was painted by Le Roi Brereton, as was the magnificent tablecloth in the banquet scene. Several permanent properties were acquired such as tables, chairs and an old-fashioned hooded fire place, as well as the curtains which cost nearly one hundred dollars. It is our aim to have a property room with a large variety of equipment. If anyone wishes to use these properties they will be rented for ten percent of their original cost.

The acting was of a very superior grade and much credit is due Miss Ethel Potter, the coach. Barbara Pike as Katherine and William Helmbold as Petruchio were supported by a very efficient cast.

The stage assistants were very helpful this year. It was because of their efficiency that the performance went off so smoothly. Burton Richardson did the lighting, which was a major feature of the production. Alfred Levick took care of properties, while Paul Sexton (because of the illness of his brother) had charge of costumes.

With the proceeds, which are about eight hundred dollars, the committee will offer three scholarships for boys. This money was made on tickets and candy, which shows that there is great interest in dramatics among the townspeople and students. With the splendid equipment which there is to work with dramatics should climb to great heights.

The Sagamore

FOR the past year the Sagamore has been able to have a good financial condition and at the same time print cuts and car oons, due to the support received from the school, the number of advertisements ob ained, and the work of the board in obtaining cuts from the newspapers.

We started the year with about fifty dollars and at the time we turned the Sagamore over to the new board the money as well as the running condition of the paper itself were in good condition.

We received some criticism during the year regarding the way the paper was run and the fact that the old monthly form is still considered the best in the minds of some. We did not consider that the majority of the students wanted a change so none was made.

Because of the fine work of all concerned we are able to state that not one of our issues had to be postponed because of lack of copy or failure in some other way to obtain the article needed.

We wish to thank Miss Willgoose and Mr. Jewett for their valuable help which enabled us to maintain the standards of the Sagamore.

Prize Speaking

UNDER the leadership of Mr. Snow, the faculty committee consisting of Mr. Godkin, Mr. Priest, Miss Perkins, Miss Bliss, Miss Adams and Miss Jessie Smith picked five girls and four boys to compete in the finals for the J. Murray Kay Prize. Ruth Barron '26, Dorothy Cottrell '25, Alice Murphy '26, Dorothy Shugg '25, Ruth Taplin '25, Willis Bradley '25, William Helmbold '25, James Levonsohn '26, and Norman Shikes '25. This year on account of the close competition five girls were picked for the finals instead of the usual four.

The prizes were awarded to Ruth Taplin '25 and Norman Shikes '25.

The French Club

THE year 1919 marks the birth of "L'Atelier Francais" as a school organization in response to a constant demand of the pupils. From that day, when a handful of faithfuls started to make the club a permanent fixture in B. H. S. the Club has not only become an established institution but also one of the largest of the school organizations. In the year 1923 the members of "L'Atelier Francais" (the French workshop) saw fit to change its name to "Le Cercle Francais de B. H. S."

In organizing this institution the founders wished to keep, not only the atmosphere of the meetings French, but also to combine a study of the thought and feeling of the French language with amusements.

Through the meetings of "Le Cercle" each year a new link is formed between the students of B. H. S. and our sister republic, France, by the study of its history, art, literature and science.

This year the faculty advisers and officers of "Le Cercle Francais" feel that another strong link has been formed in that great chain of relationship with France and her customs. To aid the members to acquaint themselves better with the French ways, the programs have included this year, such interesting speakers as Monsieur Perrin, Dramatic Coach of the Harvard French Club, and Professor Fourguay of Middlebury College. The members also presented "Les Deux Sourds" at one of the meetings with great success. Through the kindness of some of the pupils a motion picture of "Notre Dame de Paris" was shown. In addition to these literary and dramatic programs, many folk songs and games were presented by members of "Le Cercle Francais."

The "Le Cercle Francais" has in recent years added another important link to its chain. This link is between the French classes of the grade schools and the high school organization; for it is now a custom that the pupils in the seventh and eighth grade French classes entertain the members of "Le Cercle Francais" at their May meeting, and thus acquaint themselves with the pupils and teachers of the French department.

The officers have, to their great joy, noticed with what zeal and seriousness the freshmen take "Le Cercle Francais." This attitude is the only right one for future success of "Le Cercle Francais."

NANCY POWELL

The Spanish Club

EL Circulo Espanol was founded in 1923, and from the first took its place among the language clubs of the school. Last year it was kept before the school almost continuously because of its reception for the teachers, its sponsoring of the masquerade which was so successful and last but not least the musical play, "La Patria Chica."

This year the Spanish Club has very considerately slowed down on its activities and given the other clubs a chance to shine. We certainly hope that the students in the Spanish Department will continue to give the club the fine and enthusiastic support which they have given it in the past.

The officers for the year 1924-25 were: President, Nancy Powell '25; Vice President, Mary Donovan '25; Secretary-Treasurer, Irene Jewett '25.

Girls' Glee Club

THIS year the Girls' Glee Club under the efficient leadership of Mr. Augustus Zanzig, the new director of music, has increased tremendously. The enrollment this year has exceeded all previous records with a membership of over sixty girls. At the weekly Monday mee'ings we spent considerable time practicing and perfecting songs for public presentation.

During the month of October we sang for the benefit of the Kings' Daughters at the Brookline Baptist Church. In November we presented at the Brookline Forum a group of national folk songs arranged by Mr. Zanzig. At the Christmas Festival given here at school, the Glee Club took an active part. In January we sang at Prize Speaking as usual and in February we again sang at the Baptist Church this time for Fathers' and Sons' Night. Our last public appearance for the season was on April third when we sang at the Evening School Graduation.

The annual Glee Club party to which factulty members and guests are invited came in April. During the party the guest of honor, Mrs. John Gillespie, formerly Miss Jessie Smith, a member of our faculty, was presented with a gift from the old members of the Club as a token of appreciation for the splendid work she has done in former years.

Never before has the student body and the faculty given the Club such splendid support and in behalf of the Glee Club I want to take this opportunity to thank them.

Girls' Mandolin Club

THE Girls' Mandolin Club held its first meeting in October when several new girls were admitted. From that time on meetings and rehearsals were held regularly once a week. There are ten members—eight who play mandolins, one violinist and a piano accompanist. Not only girls who play string instruments are eligible, but also those who play wind instruments and drums.

The Club entertained the Coenonia Club of Somerville, the Woman's Club of Brookline, Sailors' Haven and the Marine Hospital, under the auspices of All Saints' Church, besides playing for school activities. On several occasions they were asked to repeat their performances.

Most of the members are Seniors and it is with great regret that they have to leave the Club. It is hoped that the underclassmen will come forward and carry on the work.

The Boys' Banjo Club

THE Boys' Banjo Club opened its year with Maurice Goudey, president-director, and Charles Gaynor, financial secretary. An extensive study has been made of the symphonic arrangements of popular songs and dance music, with very good results. Few public performances have been played during the season, but the programs that have been rendered have proved most satisfactory. The work this year has prepared veterans for a season of pleasing concerts next year.

The Brookline High School Band

THE Brookline High School Band, under the able leadership of Mr. Poole, has been doing most successful work.

Mr. Poole, who is a member of the Faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, came to us this year, taking the position left vacant by Mr. Findley.

This year, I, as President of the band, wish to extend to Mr. Smith the heartiest wishes of the band, their thanks for his untiring interest. Mr. Smith, a member of the school faculty, has been with the organization for a long time. He has helped it through thick and thin and has been deeply interested in its development. He has meant a great deal to the band and also to the members at large, and sacrifices a great deal in order to be present and share with us in the rehearsals and public appearances.

The band has two very important appearances each year: a recital in the month of May, and the appearance on Class Day.

The band is stronger this year in musical ability than ever before and will most probably be an overwhelming organization next year. The ability that is coming to the High School next year is due to the teachings of the new "Brookline School of Music." In this school they teach young people how to play all kinds of instruments. Therefore the band is looking forward with much expectency for a progressive coming year.

The following students were elected as officers for the years 1924-25:—Ernest Harris, President; Mary McCarthy, Vice President; Roger Smith, Secretary; Walter Hammett, Treasurer; Marion Jestings, Librarian; Arnold Ackiss, Assistant Librarian.

Orchestra

THE Brookline High School Orchestra has enjoyed a very successful year under the able leadership of Mr. Zanzig.

The Orchestra represented the high school in the meeting of the New England Federation of Bands and Orchestras held in the Arena at Boston in the early part of May.

It also played for the teacher's club play given during the winter and the annual high school dramatics held in March. The orchestra is looking forward to another successful year as only two of the members graduate this year.

The members of the orchestra wish to thank Mr. Zanzig for his time spent in preparation for these concerts.

SUGGESTIVE of its broader field of activities is the new name of "Fine Arts Society" which this year under the supervision of Mrs. Thurston and Miss Parker has grown out of the former Art Club.

The Society meets the first and third Thursday of each month; one meeting held as a business meeting, the other for the visiting of the art galleries to see the current art exhibitions. Through our appreciation of such exhibitions as: Zuloaga, Brangwyn, Cizek's Viennese Children, Blashfield, the Art Museum and Mr. Fitzgerald's Gallery of Brookline the Society has developed the desire to express itself in exhibitions of its own handiwork produced in the Art Course and also as an aid to other social activities of the school.

This year for the first time the Society wrote and produced an act of its own for the Senior Social. In co-operation with the Dramatic Committee the Society executed the stage settings of "The Taming of the Shrew." Further co-operation is shown through the output of posters of school events, health bulletins and advertising purposes throughout the year. The annual party to the teachers was given in honor of Miss Bouvé who is "graduating" with us this year.

And so—the Fine Arts Society has endeavored to co-operate in making this year of 1925 the best year ever for B. H. S.

The Four Minute Speakers

THE Four Minute Speakers form an honorary group in Brookline High School. One speaker is delegated to every session room, and he or she addresses the pupils of that room from time to time on subjects of interest to the school at large. Four minute speakers thus stand behind every worth-while activity of the school, and promote the success of such activities by arousing the interest and support of the student body.

The 1924-1925 group was organized in the fall by a faculty committee: Miss MacKnight, Miss Mille, and Mr. Hatch. Speakers of the previous year formed the nucleus of the group. New members won places by recommendation and trial. At midyear, Mr. Harbour took Miss Mille's place as adviser.

The committee has been well pleased with the efforts of this year's Four Minute Speakers. Faculty advisers of several activities have given credit to the Four Minute Speakers for their help in securing a good response from the students of the school.

The Domestic Science Club

AT its first meeting in September the following officers were elected: Grace Allen, President; Phyllis Bateman, Vice President; Helyn McEttrick, Treasurer; and Katherine Hutchinson, Secretary. Among the many interesting meetings three are outstanding. One is the meeting at which the club was entertained by a clever minstrel show, given by the Freshmen, headed by Selma Rudnick; another the dance given in Shailer Hall in March, and the third the interesting address by Miss Alexander, a graduate of B. H. S., whom some of the girls have assisted at its last meeting. The club, on the whole, has had a most successful year, having had a large membership and an exceptionally well filled treasury.

GRACE ALLEN '25.

The Girls' League

THIS year the Girls' League has been entirely reorganized. The officers elected to serve from February to February are as follows: President, Barbara Hall; Vice President, Alexandra Centerwall; Secretary-Treasurer, Dorothy Rollins. The rest of this year will be spent in making firm the new organization so that it may be a real success next year.

A small number of committees has been decided upon, which will be increased as the need rises. The committees and the chairmen are as follows: Lookout Committee—Chairman, Barbara Rollins; Big Sister Committee—Chairman, Marion Conaty; Emergency Room Committee—Chairman, Grace Allen; Publicity Committee—Chairman, Elizabeth Rock; Ways and Means Committee—Chairman, Alexandra Centerwall; Athletic Committee—Chairman, Sally Redman. These committees are getting into working order and will surely help to make the Girls' League a strong and helpful organization in Brookline High School.

BARBARA HALL, President.

The Girls' Debating Club

THE past year has been one of experimentation for us. After winning the Interscholastic Debate with Melrose we set about the organization of the Girls' Senate. This group meets during the recess study periods to discuss, without any preparation, subjects ranging from "Resolved, that strikes are justifiable" to "Resolved that a grade of B should exempt the holder from examinations." The speaking is informal and extemporaneous—debate is exchanged.

Although this year we have but launched the new idea of unprepared public discussion, the Senate has already a considerable following. We are soon to debate, during an Assembly, with the boys' section, the Forum.

The Interscholastic team for this year consists of: Dorothy Shugg '25, E. Muriel Barrie '25, Ruth Harrington '25, Alice Murphy '26, Marian Barrie '25, and Helen Smith '25.

E. MURIEL BARRIE, President.

Chess Club

THE Chess Club has been very active during the past year. Several tournaments were held under the auspices of the Inter-Scholastic Chess League of which Brookline is a member.

The team is a strong one, and as all members next year will be veteran men, we are prepared for a fine season for 1925-26.

The team consists of: Morris Bronstein, Dewitt Parker, Lyman Moore, David Alper, James Grey, George Barrie and David Goldman.

Football

THE football team of 1925 did not win a championship but made an exceptionally good showing. Playing the strongest teams in the state the opponents were only sure of victory when the final whistle had blown. Everett, Suburban League Champions, were lucky to secure a tie with Brookline. Brockton, State Champions, were only able to beat Brookline 14 to 7. They scored their winning touchdown in the last 20 seconds. The fact that Brookline tied Newton made the season all the more successful.

The showing of the boys was exceptional in that not a boy in the large squad was at any time ineligible on account of studies. This is a fine tribute to Mr. Hines as it shows that the boys worked hard for him to help repay the hard work he put in with them.

Baseball

THE Brookline High School Baseball team, with a nucleus of seven veterans: Ex-Captain John Moore, Joe Sims, Joe Meegan, Steven Murphy, William Fitzgerald, Richard Gentle, and Captain Edward McGrath, is looking forward to a very successful season. With the experience of these players, their fine spirit, and the able coaching of Mr. Hines, it is more than a probability that the team will finish within the first four places in the Suburban League. For the last few years Brookline, with fine coaching and spirit, has been the victim of much undeserved misfortune. This year, however, we hope, with the support of the student body, to bring Brookline High School into its own, in the baseball world.

Track

THE 1925 track season was the best that Brookline has had for several years. The dual meets, with the exception of one, were all held in Brookline and a lot of enthusiasm was shown by the students that attended the meets. Of the five home meets Brookline was victorious in four. The only team to which the Brookline boys bowed was Medford, who won only by a very close margin.

Among the members of this year's team there are sixteen letter men and also a state champion. Andrew Murray, captain-elect, went through the entire season undefeated in the 600 yard run. Mention should also be made of Captain Eric Smith and Edward McGrath who each scored for Brookline's many first places in the 300 yard run and 25 yard dash, respectively.

Mr. Hines has worked hard with the boys and has found some good prospects for next year. He is especially anxious to have boys of the Freshman and Sophomore Class come out for track so that they may have time to develop. Mr. Hines and the entire team are to be congratulated upon the fine showing made this year.

Boys' Swimming Team

THE Brookline High School Swimming Team for the fifth time in succession has been able to capture the Meehan Trophy School Boy Championship, with a score of 22 points, while Newton, our nearest rival, scored only 16 points. This Victory makes our High School team a sectional champion.

The team has set the record of being undefeated for the whole season. A list of the defeated teams includes M. I. T. Freshmen, Huntington School, Gardner, Rindge, Newton, Boston Boys' Club, and the Interscholastics. Captain Daley was the high point scorer of the season, having collected 38¼ points in competition.

The Team will agree with me in saying that Coach McNamara deserves the credit for the success of this year, because of the amount of time and effort he has devoted to training the squad.

With many of this year's point scorers returning next year, the retaining of the Meehan Trophy is almost assured. Here's to their success.

The Hockey Team

THE Hockey Team for 1925 had a very unfortunate season, due to several causes. The large squad in which were four veterans of last year's team made our prospects seem excellent.

However, the weather seemed opposed to us, and many days of needed practice were lost on account of the lack of ice. Then again, the accident suffered by Bob Hall, acting captain, in the Melrose game, resulted in a heavy loss to the team.

Although the other members, with Francis Fogarty as acting captain, took hold in great shape and worked hard, luck was against us. Nevertheless, nearly all the games were hard-fought and lost by small margins. For this reason, and on account of the fine spirit shown throughout the season, much credit is due every man on the team.

Crew

THE Crew season of 1925 started the last week in February with six dependable veterans of last year's champion intermediate eight, and forty other candidates. We were obliged to extend our practice on machines until the middle of April—owing to difficulties in obtaining the use of a boathouse. Being several weeks behind in practice on the water, we spent morning and afternoon of Spring vacation week in conditioning ourselves for the races.

We find that the new eight-oared shell, which Mr. Niccolls brought back from Cornell, has made the sport more popular and encouraged better efforts.

We have had two races so far this season and although both were not victories, we have other races to look forward to and hope to make a creditable showing for our school.

WHEN the tennis candidates were called out this year it was pleasing to find that about thirty boys reported. This shows the great interest in tennis.

Unfortunately, Sexton of last year's team was taken sick in the winter and was unable to finish out the year. Nickerson also of last year's team has left school, thus giving new aspirants a fine chance.

The playing of Roger Thurber, Eric Smith, Horace Ford, Henry Pepper, and Charles Gutman is most encouraging and the team looks forward to a season equal to the high standard made by former Brookline High School teams.

Field Hockey Team

THE Field Hockey Team of 1924 was well supported by the girls of the school. Although we lost some very good players from last year, nevertheless enough new material was obtained to form a good team. Under the able coaching of Miss Helen Sherman, practice was held at Dean Road playground, and a squad was chosen to represent the school. Games were played with Needham (2), Choate School, Miss May's School and Wellesley High School. All of these games were won with the exception of the first game with Needham. Altogether we had a great season.

I wish the best of luck to next year's team.

Girls' Swimming Team

THE girls' swimming team has had altogether a very successful year. Soon after Christmas the team was chosen and regular practice followed. Molly McEttrick was chosen as captain, and Edith Colby as manager. Among the team were many of last year's group. Molly McEttrick, Helen McEttrick, Ethel Lee, Helen Gould, Mary Jerome, Eleanor Daley, Ruth Larkin, Helen Horgan, Alexandria Centervall, Alice McGrail, Betty Rock and Edith Colby. With great joy we welcomed to our honorable list, Esther Morrison.

In the latter part of March, we had a meet with Boston School of Physical Education, our yearly rivals and won, the score being 40 to 24. On April 8th, we swam against Pawtucket, and won 39 to 13. Three more meets, one with Pawtucket at Pawtucket, one with Posse, and possibly one with Sargent will close the season.

The girls' team still sails on with flying colors—undefeated.

IT is with much satisfaction I submit the report of the Girls' Gym Team. Earnest application, combined with enthusiasm and good sportsmanship have prevailed during the entire period. The only meet was held in Concord with the high school girls of that town, but we came back victorious and the proud possessors of the coveted shield which we will present to B. H. S.

The team is composed of six Seniors, three Juniors, one Sophomore, nine Freshmen, with Molly McEttrick, captain, and Esther Morrison, manager.
